

Joining a Zoom Meeting

The email invitation you receive will contain a link for the Zoom meeting, along with a Meeting ID and Passcode. You only need the ID and Passcode if you are manually joining the meeting in the Zoom program. Otherwise, and more easily, you can just click the link.

When you click the link, a browser window will open. Click the Launch Meeting button to open or download the Zoom program (step 1 in the image).

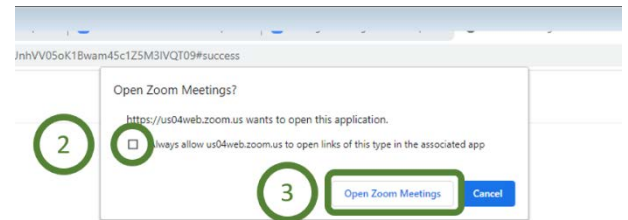

If the program is already installed, then you might be asked to always open meetings with the program. Click the Always allow checkbox (step 2), followed by the Open Zoom Meetings button (step 3).

If you don't have the program, it will automatically download and be shown at the top or bottom of your browser. Click the file name to install the program.

If the download or installation is blocked, then click the link to Join from your browser. Then, enter your name, click the Not a robot checkbox, and click the Join button.

Whether you are using the program or the browser, the next step is to click the Join with Computer Audio button in the pop-up window. You'll get best results when using headphones with a microphone.

Finally, you'll want to mute yourself when you're not talking by clicking the Mute button; normally in the bottom left corner of the Zoom window.
